

Summary

Public policy professional seeking a position applying fifteen years of experience and outstanding analysis, project management, and communication skills to local government.

Experience

Assistant Professor of Political Science (2004 – 2008)

Department of History and Government, Cameron University, Lawton, Oklahoma.
Conducted research in science, technology, and environmental policy.
Taught courses in public policy, American government, and philosophy.
Managed program assessment process. Served on administrative committees. Represented university in community affairs.

Visiting Academic Positions (2002 – 2004)

Hendrix College, Conway, Arkansas; The Abbey Program, University of Southern Mississippi, Pontlevoy, France; Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.
Conducted research in science, technology, and environmental policy.
Taught courses in public policy, American government, international affairs, and philosophy. (Limited term positions.)

Research Assistant (1993 – 1996)

Pomona Economic Development Corporation (PEDCorp), Pomona, California.
Provided analytical, administrative, and communications support for local economic development programs. Prepared newsletters, web site, and other publications. Served as liaison to local, state, and federal officials.

Marine Artillery Scout Observer (1990 – 1996)

1st Battalion, 14th Marine Regiment, United States Marine Corps Reserve

Education

Doctor of Philosophy, Political Science. 2003

University of Wisconsin – Madison
Emphasis on science, technology, and environmental policy. Major fields in American politics, comparative politics, and political theory.

Master of Arts, Political Science. 1997

University of Wisconsin - Madison, 1997
Emphasis on economic policy and political communication.

Bachelor of Arts Magna Cum Laude, Political Science. 1996

California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, 1996
Emphasis on political theory, law, and international relations. Minors in economics and history.

Continuing Education

Cameron University, 2007-2008
Full-credit courses in GIS, environmental science, calculus, trigonometry, and Spanish.

Knowlton School of Architecture, The Ohio State University, 2006
Professional development courses in urban planning.

Professional Accomplishments

Recognition of Excellence	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Nominee, Student Government Association Outstanding Professor, Cameron University, 2007-2008. • Expert peer reviewer for five journals and academic publishers. • Outstanding Graduate, Political Science, California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, 1996. • Honor Graduate, Marine Artillery Scout Observer Course, United States Field Artillery Training Center, 1991.
Policy Analysis	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Primary investigator for 16 research papers analyzing issues such as e-government, U.S. Presidential elections, human genome policy, and presidential-congressional relations, and teaching techniques. • Prepared local policy analyses of the environmental effects of wind farms and of freight transportation corridors in Lawton, Oklahoma.
Program Management	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Coordinated Program Quality Improvement Report process for Cameron University political science program. • Designed and implemented updated curriculum for political theory at Cameron University based on program evaluation and curriculum reports. • As part of a team, developed micro-enterprise loan program to promote local economic development in Pomona, California.
Communication and Community Relations	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Built strong working relationships with community groups and public officials as primary community representative of political science program. • Served as expert political analyst for KCCU radio and KSWO television in Lawton, Oklahoma • Led corporate communications efforts that enhanced PEDCorp's successfully transition from publicly funded to community-supported organization.
Information Management Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mapping, data integration, and data analysis using ArcGIS. • Advanced data analysis with Excel and SPSS. • FrontPage and Dreamweaver Web Editors; direct HTML and CSS coding ability. • MS Word.
Data Analysis Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Inferential statistics including multivariate regression and ANOVA. • Game theoretic modeling.

References

R. Lance Janda

Associate Vice-president for Enrollment Management and Director of Graduate Studies, Cameron University ljanda@cameron.edu; (580) 581-2987

- Supervisor in freshman at-risk advising program and former colleague in the Department of History and Government.

Richard Parrish

Analyst, Central Intelligence Agency and Senior Co-editor, Global Political Thought rdparrish@gmail.com; (504) 931-8353

- Supervising editor for research project in international political thought textbook, long-time collaborator in research projects, and former colleague in the University of Wisconsin political science graduate program.

Christopher R. Robinson

Assistant Professor of Humanities and Social Sciences, Clarkson University robinscc@clarkson.edu; (315) 268-3986

- Co-contributor to several research conference panels and commenter for research projects on hate speech and e-government.

Richard A. Voeltz

Chair, Department of History and Government, Cameron University
richardv@cameron.edu; (580) 581-2493

- Administrative supervisor in Department of History and Government.

Frank Zittle

Assistant Vice-president for Academic Affairs and Director of Adult and Continuing Education, Cameron University fzittle@cameron.edu; (580) 581-5531

- Supervisor of online courses and collaborator in developing teaching techniques involving new media.